

SEAFOOD SITE: Star Entertainment boss Matt Bekier (centre) with apprentice chefs Jessica Bingham and Brandon Hardiman. Picture: Nigel Hallett

SCALING UP A RIVERSIDE FISH MARKET

DARYL PASSMORE

A TOP-CLASS seafood market is likely to be included in Brisbane's $3.6 billion Queen's Wharf plan.

The idea for an outlet to rival the Sydney Fish Market was first revealed by The Courier-Mail in March.

And The Star Entertainment Group – lead partner in the Destination Brisbane Consortium developing the new entertainment and dining precinct – said it was keen to be involved.

"Our intention is to create a truly world-class seafood experience as part of the Queen's Wharf Brisbane project," The Star's managing director and chief Matt Bekier said. "Seafood such as Moreton Bay bugs, Hervey Bay scallops, Bribie Island mud crabs, reef fish are recognised and coveted by chefs, top restaurants and diners around the world."